JNPT generates 8.5 lakh units solar energy

JNPT can generate up to 822KW

NAVI MUMBAI: The government of India has set an ambitious target of installing 1 lakh MW of solar capacity by 2022 with a view to promote clean energy and reduce dependence on petroleum and diesel which create pollution.

JNPT in its own way is modestly contributing to this noble exercise by installing solar energy panels at JNPT facilities. The port has installed solar power panels on several rooftops in its township and commercial premises to generate solar power and reduce dependence on traditional energy sources. This is supported by a 15 per cent subsidy from Solar Energy Corporation of India (part of Ministry of New and Renewable Energy).

The project has total capacity to generate 822 Kilowatt power at peak performance. JNPT hospital generated the highest at 2.7 lakh units of electricity followed by admin building 1.7 lakh units, port user building 1.2

lakh units, shopping complex and maint. office 1.06 lakh units taking the total to 8.5 lakh units electricity generated during 2017-18 which has resulted saving electricity expense of Rs 1.2 Crore till March 2018.

JNPT has installed

solar power plant at St. Marry School, IES School, PUB, Admin Building, IES School, officer club, staff club, MP Hall, shopping complex & maintenance office and Hospital.

Commenting on the solar energy programme, Neeraj Bansal, Chairman, JNPT said, "Generation of clean energy and reduction in the consumption of polluting energies is a need of the hour. India presents a very good chance of generating alternate green energy and JNPT is keen to generate maximum solar energy for its captive consumption and reduce its dependence on traditional energy to the extent possible".

JNPT recently launched Mobile Environmental Monitoring Vehicle to update on real time air quality monitoring of the air as part of its clean environment move at JNPT.

A captain has to imbibe many qualities to become a great leader. He has to have the nerve of a gambler, the patience of a saint and the mind of a psychiatrist. Virat Kohli showed character to lead a team from the front to contribute 200 runs and made maximum contribution to the side in a losing cause. This batting effort earned him the number one ICC ranking as a test batsman. The skipper is an asset to the side. He replaced Smith, who is banned from active cricket for one year due to his involvement in ball tampering episode. Winning and losing is different but the captain played to a plan did make an impact with an impressive run.

Apart from Kohli and Tendulkar, Rahul Dravid, Gautam Gam-

bhir, Sunil Gavaskar, Virender Sehwag and Dilip Vengsarkar are the other India batsmen to have achieved number one rankings during their careers. However, at 934 points, Kohli has become India's highest-ranked batsman, 14th overall, on the all-time tally of points. If Kohli can deliver another strong performance in the second Test at Lord's, then he can break into the top-10 by leapfrogging Matthew Hayden, Kallis and AB de Villiers, whose highest points tally was 935 each. Donald Bradman (961) and Steve Smith (947) are the two batsmen sitting on top of this exclusive list.

Kohli scored 149 and 51 in India's 31-run defeat and has gone up by 31 points, which has helped him to end Steve Smith's 32-month reign as the top-ranked batsman and reach the top of the summit for the first time in his 67-Test career. Kohli now leads Smith, who had held the top spot since December 2015, is out of the game as he was banned for one year in ball tampering case by five points, but will have to maintain the form in the remaining four Tests to finish the series as the world's highest-ranked batsman.

Kohli, who powered India to the ICC U-19

Cricket World Cup title in 2008 and then won the prestigious Sir Garfield Sobers Trophy for ICC Cricketer of the Year in 2017, is the 76th player to top the Test batting rankings. He is also the number-one ranked ODI batsman, but is ranked 12th in T20Is, 220 points behind number-one ranked Aaron Finch of Australia.

In Indian team other than Kohli none other batsman at the top and middle order failed to apply themselves to strike the ball and that is how we fail to get the target.. The defensive tactics did not work wonders. The batting coach Sanjay Bangar and Shastri must address the batsmen to apply themselves. To lose from a stage of just 84 runs required to win on the penultimate day, the batting by rest of the batsmen was pathetic. Kohli is talking positive as a skipper but the rest of the team and the coaches should work as a team.

Just like in South Africa, the team suffered in the first test due to poor team selection. Pujara would have been crucial as the No. 3 batsman who can take the sting out of the opponent's attack, particularly being the only batsman with county experience. Both Vijay and Pujara are crucial as they can consume a lot of balls and tire the bowlers, and this always helps the batsmen to follow. The decision of Shastri once again messed up. Another issue is that Pandya, who was not needed as a bowler in these conditions is picked up and one another additional spinner in Kudeep Yadav was ignored to accommodate Pandya and that was the major mistake.

Kohli was a colossal at Edgbaston but the rest of the team could not do justice to the team's captain. Edgbaston test was a test for edgy team as they cultivate the habit of losing the first game on an overseas tour. Thereafter, they fight back to the wall in the rest of the series. From here on it is now or never situation.

International Airports are like the UN General Assembly. You come across many nationalities from many countries under one roof. The world's 20 busiest airports, as designated by Airports Council International, welcomed 1.5 billion passengers in 2017, 5.2 percent more than the year before. The report has many interesting facts and figures. I am glad to see New Delhi's Indira Gandhi International Airport is among the top 20 busiest airports. Mumbai's Chhatrapati Shivaji International Airport with passenger traffic over 47 million per annum ranks 29th. The world's busiest airports by passenger traffic are measured by total passengers enplaned plus passengers deplaned plus direct-transit passengers.

An honest IAS officer decides to quit government service

Vijay Maruti Pingale, a 2004 batch officer of the Tamil Nadu cadre, joined the civil services because he wanted to reform governance from within the system. But after 14 years of trying, the civil servant, who holds an MBBS degree, has decided to throw in the towel. Now he hopes to pursue his goal of governance reform by joining an NGO.

He was the man who had introduced advanced technology to fix responsibility for shoddy work on civic infrastructure projects thus winning him much support among the public. He involved IT companies in develop a digital dashboard for monitoring all civic projects on a real-time basis at the field level. Dr. Pingale had also unearthed a scam in the maintenance of public toilets.

More such officers are needed to cleanse the system and integrate it with the latest technology available. Corruption is endemic in India, worshipping Lakshmi at all costs is the norm, the greater good is left by the wayside. If all the cohort or comrades of Administrators act in unison (what is good for the country) as trained upon passing the competitive exams, the echelon bureaucracy would certainly be a 'steel frame' one, with transfers having no impact as the successor would tread the same path. In this case, the successor is expected to be more amenable, flexible, close one eye etc, and get along to save his or her skin.

We need reformers like Pingale. Corruption and embezzlement of government fund has become the order of the day. Despite getting crores of money for developmental activities some states are in shambles from all angles. And the absence of any mainstream media makes the matter worse. Accountability is almost zero.

Pingale was a dynamic and upright officer. Certainly it will be a big loss to Government sector. But people will not care as long as they get their freebies, reserved government jobs and promotions. Let us hope the Central government steps in and absorbs him in a suitable capacity.

Such heroes should be respected by being conferred upon the highest National awards like Padma Shri, Padma Bushun etc. to be a role model for young generation. It is sad that officers like him are seen as enemy by the powerful and as people who stand to suffer; we do not have any say in this matter. The system does not allow us to question the political bosses as to why he is treated "badly" when doing good for people. We need fundamental change to give more powers to people [not this once in 5 years during elections].

Nobody is interested in doing some sincere service to the people. Those who are found to do so are, certainly, hounded out till they leave out the department vexed absolutely with it. Dr. Pingale's case is one such. Innumerable movies have dealt with the theme of cleansing the Augean stable of politics in this country. But all to no avail. Dr. Pingale is another victim of Government corruption. His decision to give up his prestigious career is one of an unqualified Sacrifice in this world of mundane pursuit.

It is very disheartening to see a person of such a great caliber has failed in front of these corrupt officials. This has to stop if we want a corrupt free nation. So sad to see a person who wanted to transform the basic standard of living losing against the corrupt and antisocial. He can do lots of good to community with an NGO which is righteous.

Letter to the Editor...

Mobile Mania prevailing in Metro Cities

Even though there are clear cut instructions not to use Mobile in public places there is no respite for using Mobile phones and the traffic police is also not taking it so seriously. Too many accidents are taking place with Mobile mania spoiling the traffic regulations.

I once happen to see an accident near a busy Railway Station when a girl passing through my auto could not see the vehicle crossing as she was busy talking over mobile and the Auto could not avoid hitting the girl and she fell down in the middle of the busy road. She got up and continue to talk over phone forgetting the accident. The impact was severe and she would have felt the pain only on the next day. But for the time being she was engrossed in Mobile conversation and that was dangerous even for her life.

There are so many such incidents taking place on the road and the Police has taken a serious view about this and published as many as eleven photos to create an awareness. Even CCTV installed to curtail the menace, could not curb the practise. It is indeed a fine gesture on the part of media to take up the cause more seriously to avoid Mobile menace on the streets and the traffic police should do their duty most meticulously to keep the people away from Mobile Phones and punish the erring road users severely and penalize them to make it more stringent and curtail such accidents happening on the road. It is a right step in the right direction to make people realize through advertisements, warn or harsh penalties to drivers, who are on their cell phones in moving vehicle, thus failed to break the cycle of madness. It is time to change and break the ice for the sake of saving lives.

It is a very common sight to catch people on their Mobile Phones on the roads, in moving vehicles, standing on pavements, crossing the tracks approaching trains and hanging out of trains having the mouth piece in the hand most dangerously. It is quite imperative that people oblivious to everything but that small gadget in their hands or attached to a belt while ear-phones blocked out of the world.

The efforts by Government machinery, the police could not break Mobile Menace. But from the very look it appears that people are engrossed in their talk and the chances of accidents are too many. From the moment getting down from the taxi or while travelling in a train or travelling by a car we find mobile come into play and that is root cause for many accidents. I do not know how people communicate in this shortest duration and where is the absolute need to keep risking one's life.

The way youngsters cross the road with mobiles on or when they cross the level crossings, the mind is mainly on mobile and it appears a dangerous move to do so in open and that too at the cost of life. The risk is manifold when talking through a mobile on a moving vehicle.

Nothing has changed the singular obsession we have with this tiny aid to communication, that has ironically, cut us from most of the people who surround us while keeping us connected to those on the other side of the city as well the country and the world over. All that has changed, as increasingly cell phones change the way we live, communicate, consume information etc in open. It is time to change but the change will not come so fast.

sporting talent early and this can change the destinies of sportspersons as also the future of sports in India. When you help sportspersons achieve their full potential, you propel the sporting quotient of the entire country. My decision to take stake in the company was due to the passion of the team and their vision for sportspersons".

K. Yeragaselvan, CEO, and MD of 'Run Adam', said "India is yet to achieve its full potential in sports and this is not because there is a lack of talent in the country. Pursuing sports is expensive in terms of money, time and other sacrifices that one has to make. Most sportspersons are self-funded and often don't come from affluent backgrounds, and many cannot reach their goal mainly due to lack of access to resources. This mobile app aims to bridge this gap in sports. We are excited and encouraged by the support that a stalwart like M. S. Dhoni has given us. His interest and involvement in 'Run Adam' inspired us to reinforce our vision to bring the country's sporting ecosystem under one umbrella to help solve the biggest challenges facing sporting talent."
