Municipal Commissioner to get KK Divisional Office's renovation done

By Chandrashekhar Hendve

NAVI MUMBAI: The residents have to go to Navi Mumbai Municipal Corporation Headquarter to get done any kind of civic work. In order to facilitate their work, municipal commissioner Dr Ramaswami N had directed to renovate the divisional offices. He wants the officers and workers of these divisional offices to work with full enthusiasm and also the works of the city residents should be done promptly and hence he has ordered for the renovation of the divisional offices.

The three storey building of Koparkhairane Divisional Office which is located at Teen Taki at Koparkhairane was handed to NMMC by CIDCO in 1998. On the ground floor of this building is a bank while Koparkhairane Division Office is on one side of first floor and on the other side is Zone 2's deputy commissioner's office. On the second floor, on one side there is CIDCO office and on the other side water supply department office. On the third floor is NMMC's LBT Division office.

All these three floors of the building are not fit enough to do proper work and hence the municipal commissioner paid a visit to these offices and to make the condition favourable for the officers and workers over there he suggested that modular furniture work be done. On all the three floors the municipal offices will have cabins and workstations work done. Painting will also be done. As per the proposal accepted by the Standing Committee of NMMC, the look of all the offices in that building will be changed. This will make the building look brand new and the city residents will enjoy going there to get their works done.

MNS president Raj Thackeray will be in Vashi on 5 August

Tata Motors forges three-year strategic partnership with Wrestling Federation of India

To support top performing 50 wrestlers of the country till 2021

By Ashok Dhamija

MUMBAI: Tata Motors over the years has extensively dedicated to the 'Sportification of India'. The company's philosophy and commitment is to act as a catalyst to promote sports, encourage and develop young and rising sporting talent enabling them to achieve their aspirations. The company has constantly been associated with various sports such as Cricket (IPL), Kabaddi (UP Yodha in PKL) and Football (Jamshedpur FC in ISL). Continuing this tradition, the top management of Commercial Vehicles Business Unit (CVBU) of Tata Motors announced an all-encompassing three-year strategic partnership with Wrestling Federation of India (WFI) as 'Principal Sponsor' to encourage and promote the sport of wrestling and leverage the strong connect with the brands of its CV range. Beginning with the 2018 Asian Games to be held in Jakarta, this partnership will continue till 2021 that will include the World Championship and World Cup, 2020 Olympic Games,

Tata Motors Limited President - CVBU Girish Wagh along with VP, Sales and Marketing RT Wasan join Indian wrestlers Sushil Kumar, Yogeshwar Dutt, Bajrang Punia, Sandeep Tomar, Satyawart Kadia, Geeta Phogat, Sakshi Malik and Pooja Dhanda for a photo op

besides other National and International wrestling events.

As a part of the historic mega partnership, the world's 6th largest CV player from India, HQ in Mumbai is going beyond mere sponsorship and will support top performing 50 wrestlers (both men and women), across categories, on both domestic and international circuit.

To mark this initiative, the new official Tata Yodha jersey for the Indian Wrestling Team was unveiled by the stars of Indian wrestling including Olympic Medallists

Sushil Kumar, Yogeshwar Dutt, Sakshi Malik along with Geeta Phogat - India's first women wrestler to qualify for Olympic in 2012 along with Bajrang Punia, Sandeep Tomar, Pooja Dhanda and Satyawart Kadian in the presence of Senior management from Tata Motors CVBU and official of WFI.

Speaking on the occasion Girish Wagh, President - CVBU, Tata Motors said, "Today, sports with the energy and dynamism is seen as a major platform for brands to connect with various stakeholders in India.

This could be the drivers, fleet owners, dealers and distributors, media and the public and most important the passionate fans followers of at large. Commercial Vehicles are the backbone of our economy and for Tata Motors, as India's leading commercial vehicles manufacturer for the past seven decades. Wrestling and Kabaddi are home grown sports that reflect machismo, aggression and endurance that tests speed, agility and power, and are gaining popularity in India and overseas. These attributes blend perfectly with the rich

Koyna dam affected persons demand balance land

ByTutu

NAVI MUMBAI: After the land allocation irregularities the Koyna Punarbasahat Seva Sangh has alleged that around 90 beneficiaries have not got their land. Six of them applied for land on Tuesday at the Raigad collectorate. Three villages from Sartara district were rehabilitated between 1958 and 1965 at Ghot camp, Owe camp and Dharna camp (all under PCMC area) around Taloja in Panvel taluka. In these 60 years the land they are supposed to get have been re-acquired for CIDCO, MIDC and railway. They are asked to provide NOC from CIDCO, MIDC and railway to get land but builders get the land easily. This came to light after the Congress alleged Rs1767cr land scam allegedly pertains to 24 acres of CIDCO land was sold to a private builder by duping gullible Koyna dam project affected families at Rs3.60cr.

"In a four part series we will highlight the Koyna dam land affected person issues. We will delve into a particular case of struggle from here to Supreme Court, how CIDCO possessed land recently allocated to a person in Pune and also the modus operandi in selective allocation. This is the first of the series." The Koyna Punarbasahat Seva Sangh head Pawan Kadam said, "The Koyna dam project affected persons are rehabilitated in various districts. They reached between 1958 and 1965. However, the rehabilitation land has not been given en yet (See Box). In Panvel taluka total 90 beneficiaries are struggling to get their land. Three camps are located in Panvel around Taloja are - Owe, Ghot and Dharana. Most of the original owners to be benefited are dead but their kin are struggling."

An affected Mukund Kadam (70) said, "In-

Brahma Kamal and Krishna Kamal flowers bloom

ByTutu

NAVI MUMBAI: The sacred Orchid Cactus (Brahma Kamal) flowers have bloomed in the window sill of four Matheran residents. The flowers come out of leaf and usually grow in an altitude of around 4500 m. The white star-like flowers with lovely fragrance to help their pollinators locate the blossoms by moon or star light have become huge attraction for residents. Two Krishna Kamal (English Passion Flower or botanical name Passiflora) flowers have bloomed at a Panvel resident's shop. The passion flowers or passion vines are mostly tendril-bearing vines, with some being shrubs or trees. The pentamerous flower has a link to Mahabharat.

In the house of four Indira Gandhi Nagar, Matheran residents Chandrakant Sutar (2nos), Ram Dhebe (4 nos), Mahesh Jabre (6 nos) and Swapnil Gosavi (9 nos), the Brahma Kamal flowers bloomed. Brahma Kamal (English Orchid Cactus or botanical name Saussurea obvallata) flower is treated as a sacred plant native to the Himalayas and Uttarakhand, India, northern Burma and southwest China. In the Himalayas, it is found at an altitude of around 4500 m and bloom in mid monsoon. But it is found in Matheran at an altitude of 800m.

The flowers are pollinated by insects and bloom in mid-monsoon

(July-August) amongst the rocks and grasses of the hillside. These large pure white star-like flowers with lovely fragrance help their pollinators locate the blossoms by moon or star light ie after sunset from 7 p m onwards and takes about two hours to full bloom, about 8 inches in diameter and remain open throughout night. Brahma Kamal, named after Brahma. It is commonly known as Night blooming Cereus, Queen of

NRC is causing great anxiety

The National Register of Citizens published on Monday has sparked great anxiety. It is to the credit of the NRC bureaucracy and its 55,000-odd workforce that timelines have been adhered to. Even a skilfully devised system of digitised mapping of family trees is subject to human interface, subjective bias, and the inherent flaws. There should be responsibility to ensure that people who have lived here a long time, or those who know no other home, are not left high and dry in any eventuality. On that front, the Central and State governments must step up their assurances that there is no need for panic.

The claims and objections will be placed before the Supreme Court by mid-August, the window for contestation could be extended by a month beyond September 28. There should be rules to enable applicants to move the Foreigners' Tribunal.

Bigger challenges lie ahead, especially after the final NRC list determines the precise number of deemed illegal immigrants; the state then has to grapple with what to do next. It is easy to detain and deport illegal immigrants instantly when they cross the border. But when people have been allowed (or they have managed) to be in India for so long, when they have built their lives and become part of local economies and communities, they cannot and must not be rendered state-less on the basis of a list.

The painstaking efforts of Assam and India government in compiling register is laudable. Parting is always painful and so for India to deport 4 million after having housed them in their soil for nearly half century would be poignant as much as it would be frightening for Bangladesh to face suddenly an influx as it would hit the economy instantly. All said and done, statelessness of these people who belong to the subcontinent is serious issue and it is for India and Bangla Desh to reach an amicable solution failing which it may warrant UN's intervention or deliberations in International forums.

First, central government has to ensure that vigilantes don't harm non-NRC candidates. Then they should carry out remaining procedures. Since the problem was known for over thirty years, the process of granting voter's card, Aadhar Card, should have been undertaken applying checks and balances-now placed for scrutiny for inclusion in NRC Draft. This would have filtered large majority - opting to go back to their original countries. But that is wishful thinking now. On humanitarian grounds the solution would be only possible if all the remaining states agree to take responsibility for settling such people.

One country's inability to curb illegal immigration can't be a model for other able nations to emulate. India is suffering due to illegal immigration. Let's recognize that first. Later we can come to a consensus on what to do with the illegals without hurting the strong sentiments of pseudo human rights enthusiasts, people trying to gain vote Bank mileage using immigrants etc.

bal markets. We are truly delighted to associate with Wrestling Federation of India (WFI) which is one of the biggest non-cricket association in the country. We wish our Indian team the very best in the forthcoming Asian Games at Jakarta."

Commenting on the partnership, Brijbhushan Sharan Singh, President - Wrestling Federation of India said, "We are delighted to have a 'bharosemand partner' like Tata Motors as our principal sponsor for all our national and international events until year 2021. It is a first of its kind association for Indian Sports where a reputed brand like Tata Motors is associating with the entire sport for three long years. Wrestling is a game of strength and endurance and these values are perfectly resonated by Tata Yodha vehicle.

We hope that this will motivate our established and upcoming wrestlers to give in their best and overcome all obstacles to succeed at the highest level consistently. We hope that this association will ensure that India scales new heights and create more visibility for wrestling as a sport and act as a catalyst to help young individuals achieve their sporting ambitions."

The Beijing and London Olympics medalist, Sushil Kumar, attributed the constant success of wrestlers as the reason for this 'wonderful, long-standing' alliance and said "WFI and Tata Motors joining hands to promote the sport in the best way possible should be an eye-opener for all of us. Why I am saying this is because if you perform consistently and win medals sponsorships will automatically follow. WFI has set a very good example and I am happy for fellow wrestlers."

On her part, Sakshi Malik, the Rio de Janeiro Games Bronze medalist, echoed her views. "I am happy with the adulation the sport has received ever since 2008 Beijing Olympics; as we have been successfully winning medals in three consecutive Olympics. Women wrestlers, too, are doing a fine job and proving their worth. Post my success in Rio de Janeiro Olympics games, there is more awareness and respect among the masses for the women wrestlers who look to us a role models and encourage their girl child to take up the sport. The preparation for the forthcoming Asian Games is on track and we hope to add many more medals to this time around. On behalf of all Wrestlers we like to acknowledge the role of new sponsors like Tata Motors in supporting wrestling. It is the best thing that can happen to WFI. I am immensely pleased," she said.

The Tata Yodha will be present at all the WFI events - National Championships, Indian Open, Junior Nationals, World Championships, Commonwealth Games, World Cup, Grand Prix, Asian Games, and Asian Championships, for the next 3 years. Additionally, Tata Motors will have licensing rights to support the players for Asian Games, Commonwealth

, where the world's 6th largest CV player like Tata Motors is going beyond mere sponsorship. The company will act as a catalyst to promote the sport, encourage and develop young and rising sporting talent enabling them to achieve their aspirations.

stead of allocating land the officials went on acquisition of land for CIDCO, MIDC and railway. The land to be given to us were handed over to the CIDCO, MIDC and railway. This is a multiple acquisition instance wherein an affected person's land re-acquired for the same thrice. We are struggling to get land. The collectorate is not listening to our repeated requests. Even we are told that no land is available in Panvel. However, CIDCO land is availed to builders through other means."

Pawan Kadam added, "The officials of both Raigad and Satara district are troubling the land record holders or their kin. Low literacy level and lack of procedural knowledge have put the affected persons and their family members in big trouble."

However, Mukund Kadam added, "The villagers left their home for the state interest but the political-bureaucratic nexus has put us in jeopardy. Many affected persons were given land for house construction but balance land as per government resolutions have not been allocated. It was difficult to com-

The Panvel tehsildar Dipak Akade said, "The land allocation to the affected persons are handled by the collectorate. We have no role."

Letter to the Editor...

Leave the kids alone

If you loved your children you would see to it that there was no war goes true in this modern world. Our children matter much and we wish to open doors of possibility and empowerment for them in a simple way. And scale is a significant element in the way ahead to build the future of children.

Children are the future of this country and we all look forward for a bright future for the next generation of young champions. It is time to aim high and built a bright future for the children as they aspire, attempt and achieve every goal of their life over a period of time.

Priorities for children's learning includes: self review, curriculum design, teaching practice and assessment.

Children often have an intuitive capacity to distinguish between fact and fiction when listening to the stories of older people. This critical capacity can be enhanced through teaching with stories in ways that reveal and yet respect local cultural traditions as valuable sources of rich ideas for sustainable living. Teaching processes that include local and indigenous knowledge are also useful ways of contextualizing the school in community.

Knowing how unlikely your fears are to be realized might mitigate some of your worry. There are plenty of scary things that are likely to happen to your kids, from playground accidents to bullies. These things cannot be prevent and no matter how much you hover near your child on the monkey bars, at some point they are going to take a fall. How can you stop worrying about things like that give anxious moments at times.

So much for the widespread belief that the world is more dangerous today for kids. Most of the fears that lead us to restrict our kids' freedom are equally improbable. Of course anything is possible, but we shouldn't structure our lives around something that's about as likely as a lightning strike. It is not worth the worry.

Children would benefit if we supported the right of all parents to make the decisions they believe best for their kids except in the rare cases of unequivocal danger. The more your child understands the rules, limitations and expectations the greater the chance that they will have a successful experience.

Most children enjoy the fun, freedom and friendships of attending sleep-away camp, and look forward to it every year. In choosing an appropriate camping experience, word of mouth is probably the best place to begin and check with your friends to gather their experience with various camps, and also don't be afraid to ask the Camp Directors for a list of parents who will vouch for the safety and appropriateness of the program.

The kid who couldn't get out of bed in a timely fashion on school days will usually will have starting problem. Thus the child avoid doing home work and finish of the fresh morning studies conveniently. More so, the child avoid nature's call and go to school without even completing the morning chores. Thus he proves to be a novice in school as well and prefer a last bench sojourn rather than serious about the studies.

If you want your child to do better academically during the school year try to encourage and make him more enterprising. The responsibility and confidence gleaned from the school experience is not only a boon but built a better future for the child. Make sure that the experiments are safe and the expectations are appropriate for your child's age, and that transpire him to be a wise and intelligent student and that carry good weight in his career. The knowledge and wisdom earned at a young age will go a long way in developing a wonderful beginning and a bright future.

Brahma Kamal...

Cont. from pg. 5 the night, Lady of the night as its beautiful Lotus like flower blooms late night. The plant is considered an herb in Tibetan medicine with a bitter taste and used to cure urogenital disorders.

Matheran resident Chandrakant Sutar said, "From the leaf the flower bkossoms between 80m and 12 midnight. Then we worshipped and offered it to Lord Shiva. Large number of residents turn up to see the flower."

Krishna Kamal (English Passion Flower or botanical name Passiflora) flower is blomed at a Panvel resident's shop. The passion flowers or passion vines are mostly tendril-bearing vines, with some being shrubs or trees. Passion flowers produce regular and usually showy flowers with a distinctive corona. The flower is pentamerous. Its unique floral structures, mostly require biotic pollination. The leaves are used for feeding and are exclusively targeted by many butterfly species of the tribe Heliconiini. The Panvel resident Rakesh Thakur said, 'I had purchased the plant from a nursery and kept caring it at my flat but later relocated it to my shop. It got sunlight and two Krishna Kamal flowers bloom. One of them was video recorded while blooming for three minutes. This flower represents the presence of hundred Kauravs, five Pandavs, three Gods (Brahma, Vishnu and Mahesh) as buds and Lord Krishna is in the centre). It hardly blossoms everywhere.'
