CM announces the reduction of petrol price by Rs 5 in Maharashtra

By Chandrashekhar Hendve

NAVI MUMBAI: There was a great relief from the mounting petrol price when Chief Minister Devendra Fadnis made an important announcement of the reduction of petrol prices by two-and-a-half times after the government announced reduction in petrol and diesel rates. Result was the reduction of the cost of petrol in the state by Rs 5/ per liter.

As a result of rising international prices of crude oil in the international market, fuel prices are increasing steadily worldwide. Union Finance Minister Arun Jaitley announced the reduction in petrol and diesel rates by 25 paise a liter and thus not letting the domestic people get affected due to its adverse effects. Also, the states should also reduce the value added tax (VAT) of 2.5 rupees as your share, said Jaitley. Responding to this appeal, the Chief Minister announced to cut in the price of petrol by two and a half rupees in Maharashtra. This will reduce petrol prices by Rs 5 per liter in the state. This important decision of the Center and the state government has given great relief to the people. Prime Minister Narendra Modi along with Shri. Jaitley and the Chief Minister were thanked by the people.

Lupt

Lupt (English: Vanished) is a 2018 Indian Hindi-language supernatural horror film starring Javed Jaffrey, Niki Aneja Walia and Vijay Raaz. The film is directed by Prabhuraj. The movie is about an eerie and spooky journey into the realms of the unknown. The movie creates an aura of suspense. It is replete with timely jump-scare moments, coupled with loud, ominous music. Jaferi is seen as a hapless man, trying to seek meaning behind repeated flashes of vision that doctors pass off as but a result of chronic insomnia. Meenakshi Dixit's diabolic face took the center stage, featuring as a possessed soul with a gash on her forehead and the eyes without pupils. A secluded house with a pram parked a few yards in the front is also seen in the frame.

The film has Myra Vishwakarma and Prerna Vishwakarma as main actors.

Andhadhun

Andhadhun (English: The Blind Melody) is an Indian romantic black comedy thriller film directed by Sriram Raghavan. The film stars Ayushmann Khurrana, Tabu and Radhika Apte in the lead roles.

Ayushmann is portraying a blind pianist in the film and some mysterious events happen in his life that leads to various plot twists. There's actually a dilemma if he's blind or pretends to be so in order to debunk the mysteries surrounding him. He sees what he shouldn't. She sees what he couldn't. So the question is, does he see it or not? Andhadhun unfolds primarily in three distinct spaces in Pune - a middle-class bachelor's pad on Prabhat Road, an upscale Magarpatta City apartment of a former movie star, and a popular watering hole frequented by the well-heeled. Each of these locations has a grand piano.

The instrument gives the film a lush soundscape all right but, in keeping with the spirit of the twisted tale, the sensations it triggers, underscores or accompanies are deliberately askew. The plot, inspired by a duly acknowledged French short film, Olivier Treiner's L'accordeur (The Piano Tuner, 2010), about a young musician who on a whim decides to act blind after failing to win the Bernstein Prize, rests on several acts that are either hard to fathom, if not outright inexplicable, or are unsettlingly abrupt: feigned blindness, a cold-blooded murder and cover-ups and conspiracies that go awry, among many other vicious instances of omission and commission.

The film has Ayushmann Khurrana, Tabu, Radhika Apte, Anil Dhawan, Zakir Hussain, Ashwini Kalsekar, Manav Vij and Chaya Kadam.

The songs are composed by Amit Trivedi, Raftaar and Girish Nakod. The lyrics are written by Jaideep Sahni, Raftaar and Girish Nakod. The film has songs like "Naina Da Kya Kasoor" sung by Amit Trivedi, "Aap Se Milkar" by Abhijeet Shrivastava, Aakanksha Sharma, "Wo Ladki" by Arijit Singh, "Laila Laila" by Amit Trivedi, "Oh Bhai Re" by Shadab Faridi, Altamash Faridi, "Andhadhun Title Track" (Music & Lyrics by Raftaar and Girish Nakod) by Raftaar, "Andhadun" (Theme 01) by Amit Trivedi, "Andhadun" (Theme 02) by Amit Trivedi, "Naina Da Kya Kasoor" (Electronic) by Amit Trivedi and "Aap Se Milkar" (Reprise) by Ayushmann Khurrana.

Please leave Bapu alone

By Hema Gobindram

It is indeed a matter of pride that India and Indians have successfully accomplished a great structuring of iconic values, almost totally revolving around Mahatma Gandhi.

It is clear that a very important and outstanding influence in our shades of freedom and morality, non-violence and civic sense, especially the Swachhata Abhiyaan, pride of Swadeshi and non-prejudice and countless other endeavors has been Gandhiji!

Almost everyone is intrigued, as to how an 'ordinary looking person, in minimal attire, sans any position of so called political power, without any image management agencies or aspiration for Brand Building can be a PERSONA of people, for people at all times...A Persona that will continue to influence millions and millions of people in India and abroad, the common man as well as the high and mighty in powerful places over a century of great change and several paradigm shifts.

Jain community of Navi Mumbai and Mumbai appeal to the government to save Mt Shikharji

By Divakar Gore

NAVI MUMBAI: On the week of Mahatma Gandhi Jayanti, who relentlessly preached patience, tolerance and peace to the world, the entire Jain community of Navi Mumbai and Mumbai came together to appeal to save Mount Shikharji, located at Giridih district of Jharkhand, India.

The Shikharji mountain range, also called Parasnath hills has been of spiritual, cultural and religious importance to our nation even before the beginning of modern history. Inscriptions in Sanskrit older than 16th century only validate them.

The Save Shikhar-

India's Swachh Bharat Mission (SBM) receives global praise

The NDA government invoked Mahatma Gandhi's vision of a clean and healthy country. Prime Minister Narendra Modi announced a Swachh movement in 2014. Four years later the outcomes show that achieving social change is far from easy.

Besides making sanitation a movement through the provision of well-designed toilets and behaviour change in rural India, the SBM should have a broader vision of what constitutes cleanliness. The Centre asserts that urban toilet coverage is now 87% of the target, Besides ending manual scavenging, the Swachh Bharat Mission must ensure that the manual cleaning of septic tanks, which is killing so many workers each year, is stopped.

It would be even better if the latrine wastes are collected to produce compost. I think at present, everything goes to ocean. Even wastes from hospitals goes to ocean with all the bacteria of different human diseases that can contaminate sea animals and plants. Morally speaking, sending dirt to sea is not a right action.

There are two aspects to cleaning India. One is improving the infrastructure (toilets, water, dustbin, garbage collection & waste processing) and other is the changing the attitude and behavioral pattern of the public. The second aspect will come only through education and may take as much as a generation or two decades of time. A case in example is all of us get very critical of the government and municipalities when flooding happens after rains, due to clogged storm water drains but hardly ever take people to task for throwing garbage into the drainage. What SBM has achieved is to raise awareness about the need for cleanliness as it is fundamental to having hygienic environment and good health. What Modi has done is to bring focus. What has not been achieved in past 70 years cannot be undone in 4 years.

SBM has definitely driven people and made them more aware on cleanliness. The naysayers will point to the deficiency but the biggest PLUS is the awareness and readiness of people to accept that they have to change for making the country a clean liveable place. As for the practice of manual scavenging and cleaning by particular castes greater social malaise needs to be tackled with a new and stringent approach.

The achievements made in SBM so far is phenomenal, in comparison with the past performance of earlier governments.

The undeniable fact is that cleanliness campaign has led to a significant awareness among the citizens and they are willing to and are making changes. Urban local bodies (ULBs) do fear complaints under SBM and attend to them quickly. It is a fact that open defecation has largely been eliminated not only in urban but also in rural areas. That is a crowning achievement of the SBM.

ban forest; which is unfortunately being neglected and is at the risk of being commercially exploited. We must act now to save it.

In September 2015, Hon'ble Chief Minister of Jharkhand, Raghubar Das, had publicly committed to develop Shikharji as 'an international seat of spiritualism and enlightenment'. He even welcomed a Jain delegation and showed keen interest to provide infrastructure without disturbing its sanctity to preserve the holiness and sanctity of the hill.

The lack of action from the Jharkhand state government to declare Shikharji as 'a place of worship' is leading the hills to commercial exploitation and unplanned, rampant urbanization, which is violating the spiritual sanctity of the place.

We appeal to every citizen of India to join hands to preserve and promote our invaluable spiritual abode by signing the petition at www.SaveShikharji.com and sharing on social media using hashtag #SaveShikharji.

current week have been inspired and motivated by the Great Mahatma, whose name ensures honesty, lofty ideals, sanctity of purpose and welfare all in one click!

So the Joy of Giving, the Service Week, the Cleanliness Programs are all indeed great endeavors by people groups to feel good themselves as well as spread 'good feel' around, resonating with the goodness and the sacrifice of a real Mahatma, who actually was totally oblivious of his greatness, greatness or everlasting Brand value,,,

Did he ever yearn that people adore him in this monumental manner...?

Of course not..!

Yet, when a leading Broadsheet today carried a feature declaring a Makeover of Gandhiji for making him more attractive to the youth, it was a moment of deep enrage!

Leave Gandhiji alone. The Mahatma does not need a makeover, to reach out to anybody!!!Whoever needs a makeover of any sort. Even one percent can easily reach out to the spirit, beliefs and convictions of the Mahatma and realize that the change is TOTAL.

While Gandhiji propounded and propagated the spinning of Khadi and the charkha, the spinning wheel of work and welfare, several fashion designers managed to elevate the humble khadi to a Designer Robe. Quite commendable!

School bag burden - policy in place but there is no end solution

The government's policy mandates that school bags should not be more than 10% of the child's body weight. In July 2015, the state education department clearly laid down a list of guidelines for schools to reduce the weight of school bags. Even though there is a policy in place, the children carry most of the books thereby carrying heavy school bags. Three years after the Maharashtra government came up with a policy to reduce the weight of school bags, little seems to have been done to implement it.

It is indeed a right step in the right direction to make school bags lighter for Children. Human Rights commission is there to look into the problems of the people including school going children. Present day education system is taxing. School fees are very high and the school bags have become a burden. There is no doubt about it. So, the State Government's policy in place, but kids still carry heavy school bags. After the introduction of computers in schools, colleges and offices, there is need to reduce paper work and hence the school bags should weigh lighter. Instead of reducing the weight of the school bags, school authorities add more weight to these bags by adding more books and in the process more note books as well.

Parents have to bore major share of the cost of books/note books as well the weight of the bags as the parents feel pity on their children and carry the schoolbags to the school. Maharashtra State Human Rights order is a right step in the right direction. It is up to the State Government to follow the order in right spirits and provide the best solution to the school going children. School Authorities and the Parent-Teacher Association is ready to monitor the weight of the bag and bring it down with an amicable solution. The end solution to the problem is that the policy in place should be implemented in total and proper monitoring is the need of the hour.

Casting couch cost career of upcoming stars

Ms. Tanushree Dutta, who recently kicked up a storm after she alleged that Mr. Patekar harassed her on the sets of film Horn OK Pleassss in 2008, said he is trying to intimidate her giving empty threats. Given the recent developments, we feel that casting couch has been a dark secret of this industry for a long time. In order to put an end to such incidents in the industry, there is only a simple solution and that is by saying no to it. Also contrary to the claims made by Nana's lawyer the legal notice has not been served. Instead of making empty threats to intimidate Tanushree into silence. This is part and parcel of film industry and female actors burnt the brunt of such harassment in the sets of films.

This is the story of countless millions in our country who are still waiting justice because they got dragged into a web of legal mumbo-jumbo and were silenced into submission. They make a mockery of not only our judiciary, but also our esteemed Constitution by trying to disrupt a person's freedom of speech by such threats. In film industry likes and dislikes continue as in the case of love is blind. When the relationship move around smoothly then there is friction then it turns into legal notices, allegations and counter allegations that follow.

While Dutta's account has been confirmed by eye witnesses, legal expert says that Dutta's biggest obstacle is that Indian courts are not sympathetic to delays in raising complaints. In 2008, Tanushree Dutta was cast as the female lead in Horn 'OK' Pleassss opposite Nana Patekar. Trouble started when Mr Patekar allegedly hijacked a song shoot, inserting himself into the sequence and allegedly demanding that dance moves that would allow him to inappropriately touch Ms Dutta be introduced. When Ms Dutta objected and left the set, Mr Patekar allegedly used his political connections to have thugs attack not just her vanity van but also the car in which Ms Dutta's parents had arrived to pick her up - footage of this alleged attack went viral some days ago. Tanushree Dutta's story has been backed on Twitter by two women who were on set the day the alleged harassment took place. She complained to a film body 10 years ago but was swiftly silenced.

The film fraternity have been left shaken and stirred beyond compare - this is, after all, the very first time that an alleged sexual predator has been named in an industry popularly believed to thrive on the exchange of sexual favours for roles - and celebrities are picking a side, some of them involuntarily. As the Tanushree Dutta vs Nana Patekar case continues to snowball into one of Bollywood's biggest controversies the media is having go on a sensitive case. This thread is very telling. At the time of the incident being debated today even when Tanushree Dutta had career concerns to keep quiet 10 years ago she did not and her story has not changed now. Her courage should be admired, not her intention to questioned. Film Industry suffered a setback in the sets and the persons concerned are in denial mode and we all know how casting couch cost the career of upcoming stars.
